LOST SHEEP, BLINDED BY BLIZZARD—These sheep, blinded and lost, stand huddled in the snow on the wind-swept prairie northwest of Grand Forks, N. D. WORST STORM OF YEAR VEERS TO CANADA; 52 LIVES LOST AS COLD SWEEPS NATION

By The Associated Press.

The screaming storm which hammered the Northern Plains, Rocky Mountain and Northwest States has veered over into Canada, but it left the area with its worst cold wave of the winter.

At least 52 deaths were attributed to the storm, ten of them in Canada. Nine died in the northwestern blizzard, seven in crashes of two small planes in rain and fog, and a woman and her three small daughters in an automobile crash on an icy Michigan highway. Other fatalities were caused by the winds, floods and traffic accidents.

Temperatures were far below normal all the way from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Coast, while the remainder of the nation generally had seasonal or balmy weather.

The gales which caused considerable damage along the northern half of the nation had abated today. Damage included disabled power lines at Buffalo and Syracuse, N. Y., and losses of hundreds of head of livestock in the Northern Plains and Rocky Mountain regions.

Federal Forecaster J. Badner at Chicago said the high wind had cut over into Canada north of the Great Lakes but that the mass of cold air in its wake would continue on eastward toward the Atlantic seaboard.

Its forefront was over Northern Indiana and Michigan early today but it was expected to lose much of its sting before reaching the East Coast.

Southern California had another narrow escape from cold weather damage to the citrus crops at Riverside, near Los Angeles, the mercury dipped to 36 degrees early today but Los Angeles had a safe 42.

The Pacific Northwest, hard hit by a record blizzard over the weekend, had the gloomy prospect of at least two more days of snow and cold. Property damage was placed at millions of dollars. Temperatures still were at subzero levels today in Central Washington.

Strong winds ripped the ice from the shore line of Lake Winnebago in Wisconsin yesterday and threatened to maroon about 1,000 ice fishermen. All were believed rescued but the ice floes moved on out with more than 250 automobiles beyond reach of recovery until the lake again freezes against the shore.

The Vincennes, Ind., area was under a renewed flood threat following heavy week and rain which sent the Wabash river to new high levels. Four persons drowned in backwaters from the river Saturday and another man died yesterday of exposure after his boat rammed a bridge pier.

DALLAS, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The trial of Fred Felix Adair, Jr., accused of the sex thrill who terrorized Dallas women last year, was postponed today until Feb. 27. He is charged with criminally assaulting a Vicky woman.

Say Texas, Maybe, Mr. Patman?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Rep. Wright Patman of Texas has renewed his move to relocate the nation's capital west of the Mississippi river.

Although Patman didn't say so, it is inconceivable that a loyal son of the Lone Star State could consider any place "west of the Mississippi" more suitable than Texas.

Patman yesterday described Washington as a horse-and-buggy town that cannot keep step with the swift pace of the atomic age.

His resolution is before the rules committee. The Texan wants that committee to send it to the floor of the house for debate.

"The time has arrived for a serious study of the proposal to remove the seat of government to a more centrally located area," he said in a press statement.

In war it would be an easy target for the enemy, he said. He added that the atomic energy commission's recent study of what a single bomb would do to Washington is "enough to cause a National nightmare."

Patman conceded that Washington may be an archaeological dream spot, but even in peacetime it is unsuited to the needs of modern government.

OH, CHESS!

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Hollywood chess groups today named Virginia Mayo the most beautiful girl of 1949.

Herman Steiner, United States champion and chess editor of the Los Angeles Times who heads the groups, said they elected to make the award in 1949 but just got around to it now.

The delay? Well, they're chess players, after all.

John L. Receives Setback As Coal Miners Sit Tight

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 16.—(AP)—At least 64,600 soft coal miners in six states today refused to obey John L. Lewis' suggestion they return to work after a one-week strike.

Western Pennsylvania diggers led the strike into its second week, with 45,000 miners idle out of a total of 56,000.

Over the nation, pits operated by steel companies and the giant Pittsburgh-Consolidated Coal company were the principal targets as they were last week when 60,000 miners walked out in seven states.

Alabama operators said 5,500 men were idle in that state. Ohio counted 4,000 staying at home and Kentucky listed a total of 5,000.

In West Virginia, the nation's number one soft coal producing state, 5,000 more were not "willing to work." Most of the idleness was in the northern fields. In southern West Virginia, full scale production was reported.

Illinois, and Indiana, all mines were working with normal shifts.

Coal production was virtually in full swing in Southwest Virginia, with only 340 diggers idle out of the area's 15,000 miners choosing not to work.

There was no more official explanation for this week's walkouts than there was for last week's. Lewis, as president of the United Mine Workers, had suggested last week that the striking miners return to the pits today.

The United States Steel Corporation said all its captive mines in Pennsylvania, employing about 11,000 men, are closed. Another 4,000 U.S. Steel miners in Kentucky forced operations there to remain dark and bleak.

A spokesman said operations in West Virginia were normal.

Core Of Resistance

The Pittsburgh Consolidated Coal company's large mine at nearby Liberty, Pa., was among the first to reopen. Other Pitt Consol pits are down. Three mines of the Weirton Steel Co. in Washington county are out of production.

The hard core of resistance to the United Mine Workers president's suggestion appeared to be in Green and Fayette counties in the southwestern corner of Pennsylvania. The great bulk of the state's

Texas Whips Cold As Freeze Slows; Valley Fruit Safe

By The Associated Press.

A slow-moving dry cold front led much of its punch as it crept toward the Texas Coast today.

It probably won't reach the Lower Rio Grande Valley at all, a weather bureau spokesman in Dallas said.

Skies were clear over the entire state except for along the coast and in extreme East Texas, where scattered rain and fog prevailed. Occasional rain was predicted for much of East Texas tomorrow with warmer weather in West Texas.

Heavy fog closed in on Houston and Corpus Christi early this morning. At 6:30 it was virtually "ceiling zero." Air traffic at Corpus Christi was delayed more than an hour. But the fog began lifting before mid-morning.

At mid-morning the cold front covered the entire Panhandle and extended south to Wink and Del Rio.

Fair Stockholders Add 22 More To Board; All Officers Are Re-Elected

Stockholders of the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show, in annual session Monday, voted a change in the by-laws to increase the number of directors from 24 to 36, and for the president to appoint an additional 10 directors at-large to serve for one year. The financial report was approved.

At a meeting of the directors, the 1950 fair dates were set for Sept. 26 through 30. All officers were re-elected.

The by-law change was voted after the group heard the recommendation of the executive committee. Under the new plan there will be a total of 46 directors. The thirty six elected persons will hold office for one, two and three years, and the 10 appointed directors will serve one year. Twelve elected directors will retire each year.

The nominating committee report, naming the new directors, was approved and the president will name the 10 additional directors soon. The 10 appointed directors will be chosen from the county as a whole, it was explained.

Officers re-elected were J. N. Edens, Sr., president; Afton Burke, first vice-president; Will Thompson, second vice-president; Fred E. Harvey, Jr., treasurer; Herman Brown, general manager; and W. H. Walker, general superintendent.

Before the fair dates were set there was a discussion on whether to hold the fair during the first week of September or October, or on the selected days.

Before the Sept. 26-30 dates were set, proposed dates Sept. 5-9, and Oct. 3-7, were discussed. The chosen dates were selected in order to avoid a conflict with high school football games.

The date of the Marton fair is the same as that chosen for the Corsicana showing, but the directors thought this would interfere but little.

March Of Dimes For Polio Victims Is Launched Here

The 1950 March of Dimes got under way in Navarro county and throughout the nation today, and will continue until the end of the month.

During that two-week period, citizens of Navarro county, like their fellow Americans everywhere, will help to the answer to the threat of polio epidemics next summer by providing for continued care and treatment of polio patients of 1949 and prior years.

Termining the 1950 March of Dimes the most critical in the history of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Embry Ferguson, county chairman, said that the fund-raising machinery is all set.

Four barrels have been placed down town for the convenience of contributors, and 7,000 letters appealing to individual citizens were dropped in the mail Sunday, Ferguson reported. And 11 community chairman have been named.

"Everyone must hit the line hard during the next few days," he said, "and the county chapter is continuing providing services to polio patients in this and other communities," Ferguson declared.

Efforts will be made to raise twice the sum received last year, when the county contributed $4,747.

Czechs Arrested

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Unofficial reliable Czech sources today reported new arrests in Prague which were said to be connected with the nipping of an army revolt plot. In the absence of official comment it could not be determined how widespread the arrests were.

SMITHWICK, ILL AND NERVOUS, FACES TRIAL IN MASON'S DEATH

BELTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Portly Sam Smithwick, nervously fumbling his cowboy hat, went on trial today on a charge of murdering a crusading radio commentator.

Smithwick entered the courtroom a scant five minutes before the trial opened at 10 a. m.

Weakened by illness, the 61-year-old defendant, a former peace officer, was down to about 230 pounds—35 pounds less than he weighed last July 29 when he allegedly killed W. H. (Bill) Mason, veteran radio and newspaper man, at Alice.

Two minutes before 10 a. m., Judge Wesley Dice took his seat on the bench.

The courtroom was packed—mainly with 250 veniremen.

Malice Is Charged.

The state charges Smithwick deliberately shot Mason in anger after the tart-tongued radio broadcaster had made accusations against Smithwick, then a deputy sheriff of Jim Wells county, on a radio program.

A single bullet killed Mason after Smithwick allegedly halted Mason's car in an industrial section of Alice.

Smithwick wore blue trousers, blue sweater, blue shirt, yellow tie and boots.

Jailer Dick Knowles said Smithwick had been suffering from a cold and rheumatism.

In the audience was Mason's widow. She wore a black and white suit and furs.

Smithwick's seven children were in Belton—including all four sons and one daughter. In addition, two of his daughters-in-law, two sisters and a cousin were in this city.

Remodeling Done.

One hundred and seven subpoenas had been issued to an estimated 85 prospective witnesses.

The state charged Smithwick with murder in the first degree, and saving was heard in the courtroom. The courthouse is being remodeled.

Twice before trial postponements have been granted.

The trial was to open with a key witness missing. Indications are the defense may use this as a basis to ask for a third postponement.

We do not know whether we will be ready for trial this time, said the trial opens," Henry Taylor, Sr., of Temple, one of Smithwick's three attorneys, said Saturday.

Taylor said that Juan F. Saenz, a key witness, had been indicted.

The last postponement of the trial was granted because of the absence of Saenz. Defense attorneys have said they will not testify if they saw a scuffle between Smithwick and Mason just before Mason was shot.

Mason, who had worked on papers from court to court, conducted a daily radio program. In this program he tried to point things he thought were wrong in the South Texas town of Alice.

In his last broadcast, Mason said Smithwick was a property owner on which a dance hall was located.

Mason said prostitutes piled their trade there.

Smithwick, 61-year-old veteran peace officer, locked himself in jail shortly after Mason was shot.

Smithwick has been held in jail here since Sept. 13, after his trial was moved to Belton on a change of venue.

Five persons drowned last Sunday night when a car smashed through a bridge railing and plunged into Texas Bayou, ten miles south of Port Arthur, Texas.

That raised to at least 24 the number of persons who died violently in Texas over the weekend.

Two plane crashes killed three men, both fatal accidents, shootings, a fall and drownings accounted for the remainder of the toll.

Killed when the car smashed through the railing were A. C. Reichel, whose address was listed as both Channel View, and Houston; Lloyd Clark McDonald, Houston; Carl Byars, reportedly to be from Houston; a woman, tentatively identified as Edna Burlingame, age 30 to 35, of Port Arthur, and a girl tentatively identified as her daughter, Sandra, Burlingame, about 14 or 15.

Benito Uriden, 37, was killed at Hidalgo Sunday when his truck ran over him after he fell out of the back.

Manuel L. Mendoza, 21, of Engleman Gardens, and Mrs. Concepcion Solis, about 40, were killed Sunday in a jeep-automobile collision near Elgin.

Clyde King, 39, of La Feria drowned Sunday while trying to swim ashore at Port Isabel to get aid for a swamped fishing boat.

His wife and a friend, P. C. Franklin, 35, were rescued after clinging to the boat for two hours.

William Godfrey Evans, 57, retired railroad man, was found shot to death in his Port Worth home Sunday night. Justice of the Peace Frank Kurley returned a suicide verdict.

Mrs. Sterling Clark, 36, of near Stoneburg was killed about mid-morning Sunday in a three-car collision near Stoneburg, 10 miles east of Bowie.

Leonard Morin, 12, and Leonardo Gonzales, 13, both of Mathis, were killed Sunday in a car crash on U.S. Pacific train tracks they sat on.

Headhunters Say Professors Slain, Buried In Holdup

MANILA, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Spears of onetime headhunters ended the lives of two American University professors on a hike in rugged mountains in the Philippines. Their bodies were found in a shallow grave.

Discovery of the bodies of Dr. Robert F. Conklin and Prof. Marvin Pittman was announced today by Col. James L. Meader of the United States embassy. His information came from a U. S. 15th Air Force patrol which took part in a two-weeks ground and air search.

The bodies were found in the wild mountains of Northern Luzon about 75 miles northeast of Baguio, a summer capital of the Philippines. It is the country of the Ifugao, tribesmen of mixed Malay origin who used to be headhunters.

The patrol said three Ifugao admitted robbing the professors, killing them with spears and burying the bodies. The tribesmen said three others helped them. Philippine constabularymen are hunting the other three.

Conklin and Pittman were exchange professors at the University of the Philippines. Dr. Conklin, a professor of English, was on leave from Springfield College, Springfield, Mass. Prof. Pittman, formerly of Chicago, was assistant professor of geography at Miami University, Oxford, O., before coming to the Philippines.

The patrol said they were killed on Christmas Day. They had set out on a ten-day trip, scheduled to end at Baguio on New Year's day.

Bexar Woman Found Slain In Farm Home

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Bexar county deputy sheriffs today were investigating the death of Mrs. Otha Sykes, about 40, found dead on the floor of her fire-damaged home on a farm 15 miles east of here yesterday.

Deputy Sheriffs Joe Dominguez and Bill Hussey said there was a bullet wound on the back of the head. A 22 caliber rifle was found in the room, the walls of which had been scorched by flames.

Officers said Sykes told them he had last seen his wife alive Saturday night when he left for town. The body was found about noon yesterday.

Complaints of Whipping—Little Lora Lee Michel, 9, movie actress, complains in Beverly Hills, Calif. she was whipped, a sheriff's deputy said, because she gained weight. The accusation resulted in a child cruelty charge being filed against Mrs. Lorraine Michel, 65, who said she is Lora Lee's stepmother. Mrs. Michel denied she beat the child, but said Lora Lee is on a diet prescribed by a physician. (AP Wirephoto).

POSTPONED

The farm-improvement project planned by the Blooming Grove Methodist Church for Tuesday, Jan. 16, has been postponed to Thursday, Jan. 26, the Rev. Roy Felder reports.

Wet weather and unsuitable land conditions caused the postponement, Rev. Felder said.

"Much of the land is so soft we couldn't get the machinery on it," he added.

The program will be carried out on the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armstrong.

Tentative Budget Of 20 Million Is Under State Study

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—(AP)—A tentative operating budget of nearly 20 million dollars for the balance of this fiscal year and the next fiscal year was studied here today by the State Hospital Board.

This would represent an increase of around two and a quarter million dollars over the amount voted by the legislature—the operating funds voted by the late Gov. Beauford H. Jester when the state ran out of money.

The board began its study of the proposed budget the day after Gov. Allan Shivers and a group of influential house leaders discussed different methods of raising the money.

'Hash Making' Cry Sounded In Fury Over Formosa; Everybody Yells It

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Democrats and Republicans accused each other today of trying to make "hash" out of the nation's foreign policies in the senate argument over Formosa and China.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told reporters he thinks GOP members storming against President Truman's hands-off policy toward Formosa "have been trying to make political hash."

"They are trying to create an issue on foreign policy without being united in any way on what should be done as an alternative to the administration's course," Lucas said.

"They are condemning the state department and pleading ancient history. Yet not one of them agrees with another on what ought to be done about Formosa or anything else."

Lucas upheld the administration's decision to withdraw all American consular officials from Communist China after the Communists had invaded the U. S. consular quarters in Peking.

"That's all there was left to do," he said.

Senator Brewster of Maine, chairman of the Republican senatorial committee, said Lucas is off base.

"The Democrats are the ones who made hash out of our foreign policy," Brewster said. "That policy apparently seeks to be fish in Europe and fowl in Asia—and I don't care how you spell the fowl."

Republicans are expected to reopen the Chinese question in the senate tomorrow with charges that the withdrawal from the Communist-controlled area represents only another result of what they have called the administration's policy of "appeasement" there.

GOP members apparently think they have President Truman over a political barrel because of the failure of U. S. efforts to halt Communism in Asia.

Unhappy Horse Lover

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Gen. "Hap" Arnold, dead at 63, once almost quit the U. S. Army because they wouldn't let him ride a horse.

This is one of many odd quirks in the career of the genial airman who never fired a gun in anger himself but commanded the mightiest armada in history—the globe-ranging U. S. Army Airforce in the Second World War.

The only wound he suffered in two world wars—he saw combat action in neither—came when he was struck by some shotgun pellets during a pheasant hunt.

Yet the "Hap" of today stands as a monument to his pioneer courage aloft and his cheerful but diplomatic toughness in winning a top place for airpower in Washington's behind-the-scenes military struggles.

Two examples of his pioneering:

1. As a young flier Arnold neutrally zoomed down and plopped a bag of mail in the front yard of a postoffice to prove the Army could deliver airmail.

2. In 1945 he commanded the Airforce that opened a new era of war and peace by dropping two

National Unit Of CIO Granted Plea To Hold Action

ST LOUIS, Jan. 16.—(AP)—A strike of 50,000 employees against the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. was postponed indefinitely today at the request of the CIO Communications Workers National officers.

Frank P. Loneragan, vice president of Division 20, of the communication workers union, said Southwestern Bell employees would tie in their strike activities with those of the national union and participate in a nationwide walkout if one is called.

Loneragan said strike directors have been instructed to keep their organizations prepared "for immediate action, which may come at any time and on short notice."

The announcement followed a meeting between officers of the international union and those of Division 20.

Yesterday a threatened walkout against Southwestern Bell was postponed and the request of international officers.

A strike truce, agreed to by the union at the request of Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri, expired last midnight.

The action by Division 20 officials caused observers to believe a strike in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and small parts of Illinois might be delayed to coincide with possible strike action against affiliates of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in other parts of the nation.

Union officers have announced previously that a nationwide strike against the Bell system was possible next month. Southwestern Bell is an affiliate of A. T. and T.

But a delay in the walkout plan did not bring hopes for an immediate settlement between the union and Southwestern Bell.

Negotiations were broken off after the company rejected a union demand for a 15-cent an hour pay raise, a week ago Friday. No counter offer was made by the company and federal conciliators said no basis has been found for resumption of negotiations.

Present wage scales range from $41 a week for telephone operators to $51 weekly for plant craftsmen, union officials said.

Former Texan Gets 50-Year Pen Term

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 16.—(AP)—The Rev. George P. Hetenyi, 40-year-old Episcopal supply pastor, was sentenced today to serve 50 years in life in prison for the fatal shooting of his pretty, young wife.

Hetenyi, formerly of El Paso, was convicted Dec. 16 on a second degree murder charge. The sentence given by Monroe County Judge Daniel J. O'Mara was 30 years more than the minimum possible under state law.

Good Attendance Reported Sunday 11th Ave. Church

Excellent attendance was reported at all services of the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church Sunday. Rev. E. L. Craig, pastor, brought both messages—his subjects being "The Meaning of the Bible to You" at the morning hour and "The Withered Hand Restored" at the evening service.

Mrs. Clara Jenkins brought "Sing To The Great Jehovah's Praise" (Mendelssohn-Bartholdy) for prelude to the morning worship and Mrs. L. K. Caraway brought "Meditation" for the offertory. Mrs. Joe Worsham directed the choir.

The second session of the Sunday evening fellowship periods was observed with Mrs. L. K. Caraway leading the adults, assisted by Mrs. Lola Gilbert, Mrs. Cecil Cook, Al-his Bailey and Hugh Parrish, Sr. Mrs. Fred Wilson led the juniors and Mrs. Johnny Nutt was in charge of the primaries. Mr. Nutt directed the intermediates and Mrs. Worsham the young people.

A generous recreational period was observed following the preaching service with a short program by the young people. Sandwiches, cold drinks and coffee were served by the Wesleyan Bible class—Hugh Parrish, Sr., teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Canant united with the church and their little daughter, Rebecca, was christened.

Boy Scouts meet Monday night and the Wesleyan Service guild meets in the home of Mrs. Elise Hoffman, 1507 Magnolia, Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. Mid-week prayer service will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, followed by choir practice.

Photographing The Stomach

By W. F. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy

One of the many modern aids used in diagnosis of disease is an instrument that can be called a stomach camera. It is a tube two inches long and less than a half inch in diameter, having an upper and lower photographing unit with a small lamp between.

The stomach camera is taken into the stomach just as any other tube and with its tiny eye completely photographs the lining and any defects thereon. The complete process after the camera is in place takes about half a minute.

This is but one of the many means doctors can employ to promptly locate and treat illness. Call upon a reliable druggist for medicine your doctor advises.

Navarro County Patients In State Hospitals

AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—(Sp.)—Figures revealing to each county the significance of the special legislative session were disclosed today by the State Board of Hospital and Special Schools.

According to the board's current records there are 281 patients from Navarro county in the state hospitals and special schools. Mental illness tops the list, as follows:

Mental hospitals, 145.
Epileptic hospitals, 14.
Mentally deficient hospitals, 59.
Tuberculosis hospitals, 7.
Deaf and blind schools, 10.
Orphan's homes, 46.

The cost of caring for these 281 Navarro patients, the board reported, is $218,056 for the current year.

Commenting on this, Claud Gilmer of Rock Springs, chairman of the board, said: "It concerns every citizen. No one can say when tragedy can strike or what Texan will be the next to enter one of our institutions."

Gilmer suggested that citizens could familiarize themselves with the situation by discussing it with their legislators.

Emmanuel Church Services Sunday Well Attended

Services Sunday at the Emmanuel Baptist church were enjoyed by good crowds.

The pastor, Rev. W. M. Lomas, brought both messages—the morning subject being "Jesus In The Midst" and "For Me to Live Is Christ" being the topic for the evening hour.

Visitation was stressed in Sunday school and Training Union.

The brotherhood plans to meet with the county organization Tuesday evening. A good attendance was reported for the workers conference at Blooming Grove.

The regular brotherhood and WMS meets Wednesday night with prayer service, followed by choir rehearsal.

Definite plans have been made to begin the erection of the new church building on West Seventh avenue.

er, in 1911, he was the fourth man in the army chosen to study flying at Dayton, O., under the Wright Brothers.

It is interesting to conjecture what would have happened to Arnold—and to American airpower—if he had won his first heart's desire, assignment to the cavalry.

For throughout his career Hap was aligned with "Billy" Mitchell and the other Army rebels of the years between the wars who sought a more important role for airpower. His victory came when the American Airforce was permitted to practice daylight precision bombing against Germany, which he had advocated as against area bombing by night.

And his vindication came after the war when Prisoner Herman Goering, asked by the U. S. Strategic Bombing Survey whether area or precision bombing had been more effective, replied: "The precision bombing, because it was decisive. Destroyed cities could be evacuated, but destroyed industries were difficult to replace."

Scrivner Given Ten-Year Term For Holdup Here

Many Witnesses In Court To Defend Youth's Character

A 10-year penitentiary sentence was assessed James Thomas Scrivner, 21-year-old paralytic victim of Bonham, after he pleaded guilty before District Judge A. P. Mays Friday afternoon to a charge of robbery.

Scrivner waived his right of trial before a jury and threw himself on the mercy of the court. He seemed stunned by the verdict.

Scrivner was accused of robbing the Cabell's Food Store here on Dec. 16.

A host of witnesses came to the defense of the youth. He was described as a "swell kid" who was "interested in development of his spiritual life," and a youngster who always had a smile.

From the stand, Scrivner admitted the $132.89 stickup while in company with another youth—described as "the brain." He also related details of the ensuing gun battle with Police Sgt. W. D. Theford, and the pair's escape to Dallas, where they were nabbed by police.

County Attorney Charles T. Banister presented the state's evidence, an attorney from Bonham, Buster Cole, called eight witnesses.

The first Fannin County Sheriff M. Anderson, testified he had known young Scrivner all his life, that he had never been into any trouble.

R. McKissack, Bonham chief of police, said Scrivner's criminal escapade (The boy is accused in other robberies) was "a shock to the community."

G. F. Folk, a Bonham cattleman, declared "He was a swell kid. I used to give him nickles as he was walking to school. He always wore braces on his legs."

John Scrivner, a 49-year-old John Scrivner, in a quivering voice, testified that his son—described as the baby—was never in trouble. He expressed the opinion that the young bandit would have made a good preacher.

As his father testified, the son burst into sobs. His mother also testified.

Episcopal Church officials—The Rev. Mr. B. B. Clark, a deacon in a Dallas church, and Homer Francis Rogers, rector of the Denton Episcopal Church—told of the defendant's religious life.

He never missed a church for three months while studying in preparation for confirmation in the church, said Clark.

"I was a likeable young man who was interested in developing his spiritual life," testified the youth's pastor, Rogers.

Another witness was J. T. Rogers, manager of a Bonham laundry who substantiated other witnesses' testimony as to Scrivner's reputation.

As the defendant took the stand—warned by the court that he did not have to testify against himself—he calmly related the robbery, the gun fight with Theford, and the journey to Dallas. They were shot, he said, and his companion, Robert Leeman, 22, was wounded in the exchange of bullets near the Corsicana post office.

Banister's witnesses were Theford, who told of chase to Cabell's with his wife to purchase groceries just as the two robbers were fleeing; and Bart Cowart, Cabell's employee, who described the robbery which occurred about 10:30 p. m., near closing time.

Theford said both of the youths fired at him, putting his car out of commission.

On cross examination of the defendant, Attorney Cole brought from Scrivner testimony that he was a cripple because of polio.

At the conclusion of the hearing, District Judge A. P. Mays adjourned court until 1:30 p. m. He remarked:

"This has got me worried."

Wife On Trial In Husband's Death

AZTEC, N. M., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Jane Lopez, 31, goes on trial today for the murder of her state policeman husband, E. A. (Gee) Lopez.

Lopez was shot by a single bullet the night of July 22 at their apartment in Santa Fe. He was lying on the bedroom floor when officers arrived, and his .45 caliber service revolver was on a living room coffee table.

Mrs. Lopez told officers this story at the time of the shooting: She was in the kitchen when the shot was fired. She rushed into the bedroom and tried to revive her husband. When she failed, she called the state police and ambulance. She said she had only a vague memory of what had happened and might have carried the pistol from the bedroom into the living room where it was found.

STATE BOARD

Nothing For Buildings.

The approximately 20 million dollar expenditure studied by the board this morning did not include anything for buildings. That will be recommended to the governor and the legislature as a separate emergency item.

The hospital board voted to study the advisability of selling the present property of the Austin state hospital and using the proceeds to relocate the institution. It had been suggested the property is too valuable as real estate to be used for its present purpose.

Gov. Shivers went into a huddle yesterday afternoon with 17 members of the house committee on revenue and taxation and Speaker Durward to confer for the house group said that while no definite policy agreement was reached, most committee members indicated they favored the proposal for a one-shot temporary rate at the end of the fiscal year, Aug. 31, 1951.

Temporary Solution.

This stop-gap proposal, it was estimated, would raise around $6 million dollars, if adopted at the special session starting Jan. 31, it would offer only a temporary solution to the long-range problem of supporting and improving the state's special schools and mental hospitals.

Texas was given the nation's lowest ranking by a United States Public Health Service team that re-mined the state's health survey of its cleptomany institutions. The report said in brief that lack of funds was the basic trouble.

The special session must make immediate appropriations for the state's health care, and it will be asked to get a start on a building program. If the special session follows the temporary tax route, the regular session next January would face the bigger job of working out a permanent plan of support and improvement.

Progress Is Seen.

Shivers called members of the board and the legislature and tax committee to Austin in line with his policy of consulting each member of the legislature before the special session convenes. He said steady progress was made in the direction of working out a finance proposal.

Some house members at the meeting favored deficit financing. Several revenue-raising plans were offered.

Shivers said he has talked to between 50 and 75 members of the legislature in the last week.

They have been in agreement that something must be done immediately on the cleptomany problem. Many have agreed that the special session should concern itself only with the hospital finance plan, and leave the anticipated deficit problem for the regular session next year.

Arnold's death. They praised him as the man most responsible for America's air strength and said he was a key figure in the Allied defeat of the Axis.

Arnold was brought to fly by the Wright Brothers in 1911. Just four years out of West Point, he was one of the first officers assigned the infant air force—then a branch of the signal corps.

The genial six footer's smiling face earned him the nickname of "Happy" later shortened to "Hap." But he knew how to get tough and was noted for getting things done.

Arnold saw the air force grow under his guidance from 15,000 planes and 96,000 men in 1938 to more than 70,000 planes and some 2,200,000 men in 1945.

Pushed Air Force

Even after his retirement Arnold took every opportunity to sell his firm belief that the United States should have an air force second to none. He said it was the best guarantee of peace.

In his book, "Global Missions," published last September, the five star general warned that far reaching bomber strength is the only thing Russia fears.

Yesterday, as the general arose, he told his wife, Elsie, "I feel pretty good this morning." But shortly afterward he began breathing heavily and collapsed.

Mrs. Arnold summoned Dr. R. L. Mollenhauer of Sonoma. Arnold died at 7:25 a. m. (PST) (9:25 a. m. CST).

Mrs. Arnold was the only member of the family present.

Three sons, all military men, left for home immediately. Lt. David L. Arnold arrived from March Field, Calif. Col. Henry H. Arnold, Jr., stationed at the Command and Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kas., and Capt. William B. Arnold, stationed at Banana River, Fla., were expected today.

Air force officials said a daughter, Lois, wife of Naval Commander Ernest Snowden, may not be able to come here from Corpus Christi.

Named assistant chief of the Air Forces in 1936, he moved up as Chief Sept. 29, 1938. Arnold became the first four-star air general in 1943 and was given his fifth star in 1944.

When the air force was set up as a separate air arm, Arnold's rank was changed from general of the army to the newly created general of the air force.

Revitalize Soil To Avoid Despair, Nokes Tells Agricultural Workers

A review of agriculture, its past, present and future, was given by Sen. George O. Nokes, Jr., at a dinner-meeting of the Navarro County Agricultural Workers Association Thursday night.

Mechanization, education and government interests in recent years have brought about vast progress in the field of agriculture, Nokes declared.

At the turn of the century, he said, it took over 5,000,000 farmers to feed 20,000,000 people, whereas now this number can be fed by a million farmers. Pointing to mechanization of the land and the many labor-saving devices, Nokes said the farmer soon began looking to "improvements."

And that's where education came in. The farmer learned more about how to care for his land and increase production, Nokes said.

"In the last ten years farmers have practiced more soil conservation and improvement measures than ever before," said the legislator.

"Today, we have a tremendous responsibility. We must revitalize the soil, and we need people to teach better farming methods to the farmer."

Nokes stressed the value of the government's soil conservation program.

"In my opinion the most outstanding agricultural achievement in the past 50 years is the government's farm program," he declared.

"The farmer has become very, very important. His occupation has become a worthwhile, important industry. The people of America and the world prosper as the farmer prospers."

Declaring "we can't make a go of our government unless we produce," the senator said farmers must realize even more so in the future that "we can't take it all out of the land—conservation is necessary, so that 'at the turn of the next century we won't have fallen into despair.'"

In conclusion, Nokes reminded the agricultural workers that America's future and well being depends on today's planning.

MERCY KILLINGS

To many a person suffering endless pain in an illness where no hope of recovery is held, the prospect of death must appear to be one of mercy. Those who love the sufferer may look on it so. Why, it is often asked, does the law not permit a speedy end to be brought to such suffering?

But who knows that an illness is hopeless, or a disease incurable? A few years ago tuberculosis was thought to be incurable, along with bubonic plague, cholera, leprosy, and many other diseases to which patients are no longer abandoned as hopelessly marked for death. No one knows what disease, today called incurable, tomorrow may have its secret revealed. There is a point of peril to the body beyond which medicine holds out no hope; but every doctor of long practice can recall patients who have gone beyond that point only to return by some miracle of strength inexplicable to science. Many an hour of pain too great to be endured has been passed, with another and yet another hour, and has finally been overcome by the indomitable will to live which is the difference between life and death when medical science has abandoned hope.

It may look like an act of mercy to bring release to one whose only end of pain is in death, who can never be useful again to himself or to others. But it is murder to end a life which might have one more useful and happy hour. Who is to draw the line between mercy and murder? Is it better to risk the murder of someone who might recover, rather than permit the suffering of someone who is doomed? Or was man born to risk suffering as a possible price of love and compassion? If anyone can give sure answers to questions like these, perhaps he can say whether it is right that life should be taken as an act of mercy.

So far, the law says no.

TAXING AND SPENDING

Of all the controversies brought onto the Washington stage by the President's state of the Union message, together with its reception by Congress and the various interpreters of public opinion, the one of most immediate concern to the great number of people is doubtless that of government spending and taxation. It is hard to hazard a guess whether Congress and the President are now about to get together on a more nearly balanced budget or are about to repeat past performances of adding to the deficit while blaming each other for it.

No crystal ball is needed to foretell that if Congress and the President work at cross purposes another huge deficit is in prospect for the next fiscal year, despite the fact that both appear to want a smaller deficit. The result would be failure to reduce expenditures because of inability to agree on what should be cut, and failure to provide any additional revenue because of inability to agree on what the source should be.

The taxpayer must have trembled at the noisy enthusiasm with which Congress received the President's implication that the 1948 tax cut was the root of present federal troubles. Yet it might be possible to adjust taxes in a way which would yield somewhat more revenue and at the same time improve or leave unchanged the position of most taxpayers, by more equitable distribution of the tax load. There was also noisy approval

SHEPHERD WITH THE DIRTY HAND

He was a shepherd in a play,
Garbed as the shepherds were of old.
To Bethlehem he led the way,
Following that gleaming star of gold.
Across the stage I watched him
tread,
His arm upraised to guide his band,
And suddenly his mother said:
"Look at his dirty little hand!"

Oh, shepherd with the dirty hand,
My chuckle almost spoiled the scene!
Why can't a mother understand
No faithful shepherd's hands are clean?
Whr through the night must guard the flock
Must touch the earth from time to time,
And long before 'tis twelve o'clock
His fingers will be thick with grime.

"Just right!" said I in your defense,
"And perfect for a shepherd indeed."
Clean hands had shown a lack of sense.
Your boy has an artistic soul."
Superbly played, superbly dressed,
From start to close superbly planned.
Of all, I'd say, he pleased me best—
The shepherd with the dirty hand.

al of the suggestion that government spending be held down. Here lies great hope for an end to perennial government deficits and eventual relief for the taxpayer, if Congress and the President can discuss it in the same language. Perhaps they can.

THE DOLLAR PROBLEM

Almost from the moment the Marshall Plan was conceived there have been dark suggestions, mostly from critics of the plan, that when the scheduled period of the European Recovery Program ends in 1952 the nations being aided will still need economic assistance. There now are being heard hints that same kind of similar foreign assistance will have to become a permanent institution, because the world shortage of dollars seems to be incurable.

The United Nations has recently issued its "Statistical Yearbook for 1948," compilation of international figures on production and trade. It covers most of the world, and is believed to be reasonably accurate. It shows that the United States is by far the largest producer of refined petroleum products, the producer of 59 per cent of all the steel in the world, and the producer of most of many other things. A permanent remedy for the world dollar shortage ought to be looked for not in a permanent system of distributing government grants to the rest of the world, but in a general understanding of the significance of American industrial leadership.

The American attitude toward world commerce is largely one which came into being when this was an agricultural nation struggling to develop native industry. We still cling to the protective tariffs and import restrictions of that era, blind to the fact that these devices are completely outmoded now that we are the world's leading industrial nation. It is no longer to our interest to restrict commerce with other nations; now we need ever-increasing commerce everywhere in the world. In an appreciation of that fact might be found the permanent solution for the world's dollar shortage.

AIMS OF HOLY YEAR

It is expected that two million Catholics will journey to Rome in Holy Year pilgrimages. Aside from the traditional personal aims of the pilgrim to Rome, the observance of the Holy Year is supposed to work toward several general purposes.

These purposes, as outlined by Pope Pius XII, are the purposes of all thoughtful people. They are these: That social classes, with hatreds banished and differences settled, may be united in justice and fraternal concord.

That peace may come to families, individuals and nations.

That relief may come to refugees, prisoners, and homeless exiles.

That everywhere, but especially in the holy places of Palestine, the tranquility of order founded on a just settlement may be achieved as soon as possible.

These are the same purposes poses which motivate the work of the United Nations, and the same, in essence, as those which underlie the work at home and abroad of all churches, temples and synagogues. All enlightened people can sincerely hope that this Holy Year of Catholicism may help to bring the world closer to those purposes.

RETROACTIVE TAXES

The life insurance companies are worried over talk, heard in congressional circles, about a plan to impose retroactive taxes against their 1947 and 1948 income. These companies in most cases had no taxable income in those two years because gross income was less than the amounts required to be set aside against policy maturity. This fact is said to have made some members of Congress unhappy.

Although such things cannot be said with certainty until tested, it would appear that any amendment to the tax law as applied to incomes of past years would have to be interpreted as an ex post facto law, and therefore unconstitutional. If this is so the worries of insurance officials are wasted.

Most Americans would be shocked if a serious attempt to perform such an act should be made in Congress. The effect on public confidence would be devastating. If life insurance companies could now be taxed, with an amended law, on income of past years, the same could be done with other forms of business, or with individuals. There can be little doubt that the constitutional protection against ex post facto laws covers this situation. But it would be more comforting to be confident that Congress would not try such a thing, in any case.

DOLLARS AT WORK

That the future will see the successful investment of billions of American dollars in backward areas of Africa and South America is the opinion of people familiar with conditions there. Most observers believe, however, that private investment and development will prove more effective than direct aid from the American government.

Such an aid program has been presented to Congress in a measure which would begin the implementation of President Truman's Inaugural Address recommendation for technical assistance to backward areas, commonly known as the Point Four program. This measure would appropriate $35,000,000 to help raise living standards in Africa, South America and Asia, on condition that $50,000,000 be forthcoming from other sources including participating nations.

This total is but a drop in the bucket compared to the billions which private investors might put into mining, oil, power development and transportation improvements. One thing which deters private investment is the fear of seizure by the benefited governments, once the investments have been made, an outcome which has happened a few times. The measure before Congress would provide that the United States government obtain guarantees from governments of the areas marked for development, protecting private American investment. Private investors mostly wish the administration would forget about aid appropriations for the Point Four program, and do no more than obtain the guarantees to protect investment.

Profitable investment of private capital has so far made possible for the United States the attainment of the highest standard of living the world has ever known. It is reasonable to suppose that the same principle could operate in the undeveloped areas of the world.

COAL FOR OUR NEEDS

The time may come when a three-day work week in the coal mines will be sufficient to produce all the coal required by the nation. When the time comes the job of a coal miner may appear more attractive, or less, depending on whether leisure time or income is the primary consideration in choosing a trade in that future day. But we are not yet ready for the three-day week, judging by the recent order of the Interstate Commerce Commission reducing service by coal-burning trains. The ICC says an emergency situation exists.

Both labor leaders and mine operators ought to be able to judge from past experience the damage they are doing to their own industry by the deliberate creation of a coal shortage this winter. They need look no farther than the application of the ICC order. Ten or fifteen years ago such an order would have wrought havoc in railroad timetables. Today the effect will be much less on almost all systems, and scarcely noticed in some areas, because of the extent to which Diesel and other fuels have replaced coal on the rails. This replacement has been greatly accelerated by previous strike-caused coal shortages and will get another boost from the present situation.

The people ought not be required to endure the inconvenience, hardship and loss which are caused by these repeated stoppages in the coal industry. It does not make sense that operators and unions in a basic industry should be permitted to go on creating national emergencies according to their whims. What shall we do about it?

THINKING CHILDREN

That the success of a society founded on the importance of the individual depends in the last analysis on the training of its children was the theory back of the speech made by Dr. Elvin C. Stakman of the University of Minnesota at a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in New York recently.

"The job of society, or parents and schools is the evolution of an individual who knows how to find out for himself, who seeks the truth before he acts," said Dr. Stakman. He believes the youngest children can be taught how to conduct a scientific experiment which aims at discovery of the facts about a case rather than at proving or disproving a theory. A child's natural inquisitiveness should be encouraged rather than stifled, he said.

Another point which might be brought out concerns the difference between facts and their significance. It is doubtful whether a child can grasp this distinction, but, given the attitude of scientific inquiry and the habit of carefully sifting facts, he is likely to develop into the sort of adult who, in possession of a set of provable facts, can see above and beyond them to the ultimate truth which they indicate.

Who would have thought a few years ago when Tito was shooting down American flyers that the time would come when we would wish him well?

There are automatic transmissions, automatic washers, automatic cookers and automatic record changers, but diapers stick to the old method.

Dallas Man Arrested After Local Food Store Robbed

A 40-year old Dallas man, who is to be charged with burglarizing the Ed Aston Food Store, 631 South Fifteenth street, was captured by two city police officers Thursday night as he was leaving the store. When caught, he had over $900 in a sack, several cartons of cigarettes, and burglar tools. When arrested the burglar was not armed.

Police believe there were two other men connected with the burglary but no trace of them has been found.

Arrested at the store was Chance A. Senter, alias Chance A. Center, Dallas. His police records reveal he has been arrested at least four other times for theft and burglary, and that he has served three terms of two years each in the state penitentiary. He was sentenced in 1933, 1935 and 1937.

Picking up the arrest after receiving information that the food store was being burglarized, Senter was arrested as he was leaving the store.

Police said he had the money in a bag and had about a dozen cartons of cigarettes under his arms. He was wearing canvas gloves when arrested and was carrying a small sledge hammer. In his pocket was a chisel.

The officers said they noticed two men walking down the street as they approached the store but made no attempt to stop them because they were concerned chiefly with getting the store.

Later it developed that these men probably were connected with the burglary because the woman who called in the information said she saw three persons go into the store.

The first information or the break-in was received at 10:58 p. m. when Mrs. Ted Gowan, 701 South Fifteenth street, called the police department and reported that she had seen persons enter the rear of the store.

Mrs. Gowan was reported as saying that she and her husband were asleep but awakened by a noise at the store. The store is across the street from the Gowan home.

At first, she is reported to have said, she thought it was boys who were making the noise, but that she watched and saw the store entered.

It is believed the noise that awakened the Gowans was when the burglars knocked a hole in the rear door.

Ed Aston, proprietor of the store, said the burglars knocked a hole in the wooden door with a hammer and then unlocked it.

The safe was not broken. Aston said he had "half-locked" the safe by turning the knob and believed the burglar tested the knob first and was able to open it.

Regarding the large amount of money on hand, Aston revealed that Friday was payday for one of the local factories and it had been his custom to have a larger amount of cash on hand at this time to cash customers' checks.

Aston said $931 was recovered from the burglar, but that $17 was unaccounted for.

"However," he said, "I might have been short that much from the day's business, or may have

Reed Heeds 13—Ex-House Speaker Files Candidacy For Lieutenant Governor; Breaks Money Down Into 13 Pretty Pieces

State Rep. W. O. Reed of Dallas—an attorney who has just fallen in love with Friday the Thirteenth—came to Corsicana Friday to keep his belief intact.

He handed John C. Calhoun, chairman of the state Democratic Executive Committee 13 pieces of money (totaling $100, and it is not easy to figure how to break $100 into thirteen parts) and became the first candidate to officially file for the office of lieutenant governor in the summer democratic primaries.

Reed, a member of the house for 18 years, now serving his ninth consecutive term, and his attractive brunette wife visited Calhoun in his office.

During the nine times he has filed for the state representative post, he has filed on Friday the Thirteenth if at all possible, much depending upon the whims of the calendar, he said.

He looked over the 1950 edition, fingering out the few such instances and decided he had better drive on down to Corsicana if he filed in time.

The $100 he handed Calhoun was broken down as follows: one $50 bill; two $20 bills and ten $1 bills.

Reed, speaker of the house in the 50th Legislature, and the man who presided at the inauguration of Gov. Beauford H. Jester, doesn't depend entirely upon the calendar for his adoration of the number 13.

His wife smiled Friday as she pointed out other means of getting the number into their lives—political and otherwise.

They have two children. One is named Alicia Ann Reed and the other Judith Kay Reed. Each has 13 letters.

The Reeds lend further faith in what is supposed to be an evil old number—they have been married 13 years.

When the date has eluded him in other campaigns, Reed has filed on the date of one of the daughter's birthdays.

"This is my first state race," he said. "I'm starting it right."

Navarro Junior College's basketball team ran its winning streak to seven games, and won its first conference game of the season by outscoring the Texarkana Junior College crew, 74-65, Thursday night.

The game was played in Texarkana. It was the second win in as many nights for the Bulldogs, who have not lost a game this season.

The Bulldogs are on their way back to Corsicana Friday morning.

Meanwhile, there was a full schedule of basketball within Navarro county Thursday night.

The Highland Park Junior of Dallas trimmed the Corsicana Junior high Panthers at the junior high court here last night, 40-17.

Five visitors took a 49-halftime lead and continued to widen the gap in the second period. Ballard tallied ten points for Highland Park, and Don Tuberville led the Panthers with 8.

The Panthers will return to Corsicana Friday night of next week, Coach Bill Hay said.

In other games played there last night, the Emhouse boys beat the Mildred girls, 32-28; the Emhouse boys racked up a 19-7 win over the Mildred boys; and the Blooming Grove girls buried the Richland girls, 47-24.

Four more games are scheduled tonight in the tournament. The Rice and Frost girls meet at 6 o'clock; the Purdon and Rice boys at 7:30; the Barry and Bardwell girls at 8:00; and the Barry and Bardwell boys at 8:45.

Two tournament periods are scheduled in play Saturday, coming at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. The finals of the tourney are set for 6 p. m. Saturday. Regular admission price is 15 and 25 cents, except for the finals, which is 25 and 35 cents.

The first, second and third place teams of both boys and girls will be awarded prizes. The first star team of boys and girls will be chosen, and the players selected will receive gold basketballs, tournament officials have announced.

There had been a single state of basketball setbacks last night by defeating the Lads and Lassies in a brace of games played in Frost.

The Polar Bears took a thrilling 22-21 victory over the Lassies when Adams sank a foul shot for the Frost crew after the final whistle had sounded. Adams led the thing 9 points. Dolphus Darnell's 8 points won high for State Home.

The Frost girls took a 25-19 victory over the Lassies with 25-11. Flora Alice Anders was high scorer for the Lassies with 7 points.

Kerens, Barry Split.

Kerens and Barry split a brace of basketball decisions in their meeting at Barry last night. Betty Lutter paced the Barry girls to a 7-1 win over the Kerens females.

Kerens' Jo Anne Bray scored all of Kerens' points.

The Kerens boys took a 20-18 decision from the Barry boys with Lawrence McMillan leading the thing with 8 points. Barry's Barr got 6-high for his team.

To The Voters Of Precinct 4:

I would like to be elected your Commissioner of Precinct 4. I think I am competent for the office and I promise to deal honestly, and sincerely, realizing, at all times that I am working for you.

I have resided in this precinct, and in Frost, for many years. I have bought corn from most every man in the precinct. I have always tried to please them, and deal honestly.

Frost has not had a commissioner in twenty, or thirty years, and we feel that it is about our time to have one. I would like to prove to you that I can, and will, do as much for you as any commissioner you get.

If you see fit to elect me to this office, I will try to do the things you want done. I'll not make any promises that I can't fulfill, but will promise to try to make you the best Commissioner you ever had.

When an issue comes before the commissioners' court, that involves taxes, I will give it careful consideration before I vote, for you are the ones who pay the taxes.

Wishing you the best of everything, through this and the remainder of years, and thanking you in advance for any favors you may give me.

Sincerely, Walter Sanders.

MRS. J. C. SEATON, JR.

MISS LAVADA SUE BILLS IS MARRIED TO J. C. SEATON, JR. IN CEREMONY HELD AT DAWSON

The First Methodist church of Dawson was the scene of Tuesday evening, December 27th for the wedding of Miss Lavada Sue Bills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bills of Dawson, and J. C. Seaton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Seaton Sr., of Abilene.

The altar of the church was banked with palms, lacy ferns, large and small white mums and seasonal greenery. The back of the church was decorated in the same fashion. Tall white tapered candles provided soft illumination for the setting.

Ushers and candle lighters were Helen Bills of Shreveport, La., and Mary R. G. Bills of Washington, D. C., brothers of the bride.

The Rev. C. M. Buttrill of Grandview read the impressive double ring ceremony. A fifteen-minute prelude of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Milton Sladen. She also accompanied the Rev. Mr. Sladen who sang "At Dawning" and "My Thoughts of You."

Mrs. Sladen played traditional wedding music for the processional and recessional and soft music during the pledging of vows.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. She wore an ivory satin gown fashioned with a full skirt gathered to a pointed bodice that fastened down the back with tiny self-covered buttons. The yoke of marquisette was outlined with an off-shoulder bertha. Her long sleeves were fastened with self-covered buttons and tapered to points at her wrists. The skirt extended into a medium length train. Her double tiered veil fell from a braided satin band entwined with pearls.

She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a white Bible topped with a single white orchid.

Miss Sarah Helen Bills of Lam-pasas served her sister, the bride, honor. Her dress of light blue brocade taffeta was fashioned along the same lines as that of the bride with a full skirt, basque waist and short sleeves. She wore long matching gloves and carried a large bouquet of pink carnations tied with long streamers of blue and pink satin ribbon.

Glen Tarrant of Abilene, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, attended as best man.

After the wedding, a reception was held in the dining room of the church. The bride's table was laid with a white crocheted lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink carnations. The tiered wedding cake and crystal punch bowl were placed at opposite ends of the table. White tapered candles with satin ribbon bows shed a soft light on the table. Miss Marjorie Nelson of Vanderbilt cut the cake and Mrs. Glen Tarrant, sister of the bridegroom, poured the punch.

Edward Hale registered the guests. Reacting with the hostess, Mrs. C. C. Turner were the bride's mother and father, the bride and bridegroom and their attendants.

Mrs. Helen Bills of Shreveport, La., and Miss C. A. Willis of Dawson had charge of arrangements. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. James Bumpers and Mrs. Charles Pullin of Dawson, Mrs. Gordon Bishop of Deweyville, and Miss Lucene French of Corsicana.

When the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to South Texas, the bride was wearing a tailored blue gingham dress and tan coat with matching accessories. They will live in Dawson. Mr. Seaton will be connected with the J. A. Bills' Shop and Garage at Spring Hill, and Mrs. Seaton has accepted a position as teacher in the Furdson school.

Guests included: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Turney and daughter, Beulah Grace, and Herbert Sanders of Dublin; Mr. and Mrs. Bishop of Deweyville; Mrs. M. F. Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Corsicana Tigers Defeat Waco Cage Club Friday Night

The Corsicana Tigers brought woe to Waco Friday the 13th.

It came in the form of a 39-26 basketball victory over the Waco Bombers at the high school gym Friday night.

It toppled Waco from the peak of the district standings, and left Waxahachie alone at the top of the heap in this loop. It also put Corsicana in a strong bidding for the title to better itself as the season grows older.

The Corsicans, led by Charles Bristow, who developed a jumping shot that proved accurate from the foul circle, went into the game to win and led almost all the way. They scored first and took an early 8-1 lead before Waco got going.

Corsicana led at the half, 15-11. Bristow sparked a third quarter spree by Corsicana that built up lead of 28-17, and from then on in the Tigers from Navarro county had the situation well in hand. Orville Langston turned in a fine floor game for Corsicana, as well as ranking second in scoring with 8 points.

Stegall and Bond turned in their usual sterling performances. Bobby Galt, a boy who played his first game with the A team, did a nice job as Bristow's relief man. Waco, however, showed some measure of happiness from the otherwise fruitless night by pasting the Corsicana B team by a 24-7 count.

TOLL ROAD PLANNED BETWEEN HOUSTON, DALLAS BY COMPANY

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 13.—(UP)—Five Texans propose to build a super highway between Dallas and Houston and operate it as a toll road.

A charter for such a road was issued by the secretary of state yesterday. It went to W. L. Fickens, D. Bostick, and Ross K. Prescott, all of Dallas; H. H. Coffield of Rockdale and R. L. Wheelock of Corsicana.

Prescott estimated the cost of building the highway at $68,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Information on the charter indicated the Texas Turnpike Company planned to build an all-weather, concrete road with four 12-foot lanes, the south and north bound traffic to be separated by a five to ten foot parkway.

Designated points would be south of the Dallas city limits and north of the Houston city limits. Length was estimated at 212 to 220 miles. The proposed general route would go through Dallas, Ellis, Navarro, Freestone, Leon, Madison, Grimes, Walker, Montgomery and Harris counties.

The five incorporators were named as the board of directors for the first year. The charter was for 50 years. Capital stock was fixed at $1,000 with 1,000 shares of $1 par value each.

Prescott said the highway would be modeled after the Pennsylvania Turnpike between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh.

If the Texans follow Pennsylvania's lead they would charge passenger cars one cent a mile for use of the toll highway. Truck charges are made according to the weight of the load and the distance traveled.

The Texas road would have no cross traffic. All interesting railroad or highway traffic would go either under or over the turnpike. There would be eleven interchange points—places where traffic would leave or enter the four-lane toll route, Prescott said.

Dr. Samuel L. Levine, Of Corsicana, Is Studying In Oak Ridge, Tennessee

Dr. Samuel L. Levine, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Levine of Corsicana, is in Oak Ridge, Tennessee, studying the techniques of using radiostopes in research.

Dr. Levine, now with the Atlantic Refining Company in Philadelphia, is among 32 scientists enrolled in the twelfth in a series of one-month courses in radiostope techniques offered through the Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies.

The Institute, comprised of 24 universities, including the University of Texas and Rice Institute, conducts a broad program of research, training, and education in the nuclear sciences. Through contract with the Atomic Energy Commission. The present course brings the total number of research workers to 400 who have attended the radiostope school.

The courses are under the direction of Dr. Ralph T. Overman, Chairman of the Special Training Division.

"The Special Training Division," Dr. Overman said, is intended to provide a service to universities and industrial laboratories, agricultural and experiment stations, medical schools, and other organizations planning to use radiostopes in their research programs.

Radiostopes are atoms which give off radiation and thus enable scientists, using a Geiger counter, to trace them through complicated chemical and biological processes.

As a result radiostopes have been called the most important research tool to be developed since the invention of the microscope.

The laboratories and facilities available to scientists in the program are among the finest of their kind in the world. Oak Ridge is the center of radiostope production in this country. The most economical method for producing radiostopes is to subject small quantities of an element to neutron bombardment in the uranium chain-reacting pile present at Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Dr. Levine plans to use radiostopes to measure the wear in internal combustion engines by means of irradiated piston rings. Dr. Levine, an associate chemist, was graduated from Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College and received his master's degree there in 1941. He was awarded his Ph. D. degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1948.

He attended the American Mart and was an honor guest at the banquet in Chicago Monday night. Miles made the trip by plane to Chicago, but returned by train Saturday with Virgil Williamson, also of the Miles Furniture Stores who attended the Furniture Mart sessions. Miles was advised of his election by wire from Lawrence H. Whitney, president of the American Furniture Mart, and immediately left by plane to be present.

District 13-AA Baseball Schedule Is Announced; Track, Golf Meets Are Set

The baseball schedule for the team members in District 13-AA for the 1950 season was released here Monday by R. A. Armistead, principal of Corsicana high school and the district chairman.

As in basketball, each team will play the other twice. Teams are Cleburne, Corsicana, Hillsboro, Temple, Waco and Waxahachie. Ennis will not enter a baseball team in district play.

The date for the district 13-AA track meet was set for Waco on April 15, with Baylor University personnel directing. This date was set at a district meeting held in Waco last week.

The members of the district voted to hold a district golf meet in Waco on the same date as the track meet. Not all schools in the district are prepared to take part.

Armistead pointed out, but it is known that both Corsicana and Waco will have teams. The Corsicana team has been having matches at intervals for several weeks.

Armistead said that the Inter-scholastic League plan to install golf as a sport under its direction within the near future.

The task of drawing up a workable baseball schedule was a hard one, Armistead said, because the sport comes so late in the school year. It cannot be started while the weather is too cool, and it should be over before the last two weeks of the school year.

The schedule adopted begins on April 4, and ends on May 5. The first half ends on April 18.

McCarthy Has Hope For Pro Grid Team

HOUSTON, Jan. 16.—(UP)—Wentley Glenn McCarthy wants to buy the Cleveland Browns pro football team and move it to Houston. He thinks owners of the club will listen to his proposition.

McCarthy has made application for a franchise in the National American pro football league. The circuit is to study the request at its first meeting this week in Philadelphia.

McCarthy said he plans to attend this meeting. But he refused to discuss details of any plans for negotiating with the Cleveland club management.

Potent Porkers, Mustangs Clash In Court Contest As Ponies Take Lead

By WILBUR MAXVIN
 Associated Press Staff

It's Southern Methodist in the lead in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The Mustangs came out on top in a standing shuffle last week, but their first loss this week is potent Arkansas, currently in second place.

Baylor, which fell from the lead Saturday night by bowing to Southern Methodist, 50-47, meets Texas Christian Wednesday and Texas A. and M. takes on Rice.

The only other game this week matches Rice and Baylor at Waco Saturday.

Texas beat Texas A. and M. out of a share of the lead when Joe Ed Falk dumped in a field goal at the game on Saturday night to give the Longhorns a 48-46 victory.

Last week's results show just how wacky the conference race is this year—and why everybody still has a chance at the championship.

Texas Christian beat Southern Methodist, 62-50; Texas beat Rice, 55-52; A. and M. thumped Arkansas 43-35, and Arkansas beat Rice, 60-56.

That left Texas and A. and M. tied for third, with Baylor fifth, Texas Christian sixth and Rice in the cellar.

Joe McDermott of Rice held his scoring leadership for season play and went into the lead in conference competition. He has 244 points for the season and 66 in league games.

Old Street Car Barn Is Being Razed By TP&L; Improvements To Be Made

Memories of older Corsicana are being reviewed as the Texas Power and Light Co., tears down the trolley line car barn on West Seventh avenue between Main and Twelfth streets.

The demolition of the old car barn is part of TP&L's remodeling program for its warehouse. The old barn, which served as a repair shop and storage space, will be razed to the ground, Fred Harvey Jr., manager of the local TP&L organization, said.

He said the flooring would be covered with blacktop, the east wall plastered and painted, and the area used as a parking space for TP&L employees.

Built in 1902, the old barn will be nothing but a memory in about a week. A Corsicana firm, Whistler's Machinery and Supply Co., is doing the demolition work.

Harvey said remodeling of the warehouse would start next week. E. E. Burkhardt, 400 South Twelfth street, will be the general contractor for the remodeling job.

The remodeling will include a new face for the front of the warehouse, and a complete painting and modernizing of the interior. A new sidewalk also will be laid in front of the building.

According to Sam Ellis, TP&L service man, Corsicana's electric street car service started in 1903, about a year after work was started on the car barn.

He said the business started by the Corsicana Gas and Electric Co., had three cars, and that these cars followed two routes. Each round trip took about 25 minutes.

Ellis said the Gas and Electric firm sold the service to the Texas

Electric Railway Co., which operated the cars until 1928.

After the street car service folded in 1928, the TP&L purchased the car barn and, has been using it for storage. A decision to tear it down was reached when it was noticed that the ceiling was sagging.

Old timers say the routes of the cars were as follows:

From the car barn west to Fifteenth street on West Seventh avenue; south on Fifteenth to West Thirteenth avenue; west on Thirteenth to Twentieth street; north on Twentieth to West Tenth avenue; east on Tenth to South Eighth street; north on Eighth to West Ninth avenue, east on Ninth to Fifteenth street and back to the car barn.

The other route went east on Seventh avenue from the car barn to Beaton street; north on Beaton to West Third avenue, and west on Third to the end of the line on north Twenty-eighth street.

When the end of the line was reached the conductor went through the car, turned the seats and reversed his route to the car barn.

"There wasn't a great deal of paying in those days," said Ellis, "and the cars really hauled a lot of passengers."

"During muddy weather the people had to wade through deep and sticky mud to the car lines, but they made it somehow and rode to town."

About the only pieces of track of the old system left in Corsicana are in front of the car barn. There are a few rails inside the barn but these will be pulled or covered with black top.

The few sections of rail that curve into the old barn site probably will be the only reminder that Corsicana once had a street car system.

460 Residents Now Receiving Insurance Pay

A total of 460 residents of Corsicana and Navarro county were receiving about $8,000 each month in old age and survivors insurance payments at the end of 1949, it was announced today by Elliott W. Adams, manager of our Social Security Administration office in Waco.

These monthly benefits represent Navarro county citizens' share of the old age and survivors insurance payments for the state of Texas, as released today in a summary by Regional Director J. H. Bond at the federal security agency headquarters at Dallas.

This social security program is of especial benefit for the families of workers who have died, Adams pointed out. Approximately 230 payees, or 50 percent of all beneficiaries in Navarro county, are widows and children. They receive over $3,200 each month in benefits from this federal insurance program.

Navarro county is one of the 11 counties which are served by the social security office in Waco. In the entire Waco area, about 3300 persons are receiving about $52,000 each month in old age and survivors insurance payments.

Former Corsicanan Is Wed In Rangoon

The Scotch Presbyterian Church in Rangoon, Burma, was the setting for a wedding of interest to Corsicanans on December 22nd, when Miss Mona Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Anderson of Iowa Colony, became the bride of Dick Walker, a native of Scotland, and a Rangoon business man. The Rev. H. J. Harwood read the impressive rites before an altar decor of lacy pink and white antigonum, pink asters and potted palms, and the nuptial music was provided by Cedric Lazero, pianist.

The bride was attired in a blue gabardine suit with brown accessories and carried a white Bible topped with white orchids. At the conclusion of an informal reception that followed the ceremony the bride and bridegroom were dinner guests at a Chinese restaurant.

Miss Anderson has been connected with the American Embassy in Rangoon for the past year. Mr. and Mrs. Walker plan to make their home in Rangoon.
